

Western Gas Partners Announces Non-Binding Open Season For Delaware Basin Express Pipeline

HOUSTON, Sept. 1, 2015 /PRNewswire/ -- Western Gas Partners, LP (NYSE:WES) today announced that its wholly owned subsidiary, Delaware Basin Express, LLC ("DBE"), is holding a non-binding open season to identify interest in a new pipeline project serving portions of Reeves, Loving and Ward Counties, TX. The pipeline will provide transportation service from the tailgate of the Ramsey Gas Processing Plant, located in Northern Reeves County, Texas to the downstream intrastate pipelines located in the Waha area near Coynosa, TX. Additional receipt connections may potentially be added at the tailgates of the MiVida Gas Processing Plant and Bone Spring Gas Processing Plant. The initial capacity of the pipeline will be approximately 600,000 Dth/d of residue gas to the Waha Hub area, and could be increased up to 1,600,000 Dth/d with the addition of compression.

Subject to the satisfaction of regulatory requirements and other customary project considerations, DBE expects that the pipeline will be in service by the fourth quarter of 2016.

"With the continued growth in the Delaware Basin there is significant demand from producers for additional takeaway capacity, especially to the Waha Hub and its premium downstream markets," said Western Gas Partners CEO, Don Sinclair. "We look forward to the opportunity of providing this much needed service."

The non-binding open season begins today and ends at 4 p.m. Central Time on Wednesday, Sept. 30, 2015. Prospective shippers may contact Lance Riley, West Texas Commercial Development Manager, via email at lance.riley@anadarko.com or via phone at (832) 636-7104.
